The committee lumbia and elsewhere. The committee in charge was composed of Arthur W. McFarland, Thomas L. Dawson and W. Valentine Wilson. The chaperons were Mrs. Thomas Dawson, Mrs. Howard Larcombe and Mrs. William Dorsey. An automobile parade was the principal attraction at the fair today. It took place around the race track this morning, in charge of William A. Waters of Germantown.

Representatives at Fair.

Prominent at the fair vesterday were Representatives Steele, Green, Towner, Ramseyer and Kennedy, all of lowa; of Georgia and Smith of New York.

Fast time and stirring finishes marked most of the races at the fair yesterday afternoon, the sport being enjoyed by what was probably the largest crowd that ever attended a Rockville fair. The card included five harness contests, a running event at four furlongs and re-

WOULD BLOCK HIGH COST

Senator Hitchcock Proposes Grad uated Tax to Make Overcharges Unprofitable.

An amendment to the pending rev nue bill, designed to prevent manufacturers from charging extortionate prices for news print paper, was offered in the Senate yesterday by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, published of the Omaha World-Herald.

The amendment would impose graduated internal tax on all news print paper selling above 2 cents a pound, the ratio increasing as the price of paper advances. The tax ranges from $1 a ton for paper selling at more than $40 up to $45 a ton. The tax gradually increases until it reaches both Representative Cannon and Sen $40 a ton for paper selling at $90 or state at the consumption of paper in the last two years for two reasons.

The mills. There has been an increase in the consumption of paper in the last two years for two reasons. First, the great increase in circulation arising from the war, and more recently, the increased volume in advertising due to prosperity. The result is that all surplus stock of paper has practically disappeared.

"The mills are making about 5.500 at the last two years paper has provisions of the Dingley law and began to plant the seed of discontent to "break down the protective tariff policy of the republican party and to discredit the acknowledged leaders of that policy." Men who called themselves republicans, he said, gave currency to the "startling and false" theory that the increased cost of living was due to excessive rates provided by the Dingley tariff.

Looked About for a Jonah.

"So far did this dissatisfaction go," said Senator Gallinger, "that certain republicans began to disclaim responsibility for what they called the radical provisions of the Dingley law and began to discredit the action party and to discredit the acknowledged leaders of that policy." Whether the treaty could be ratified at this session of Congress, Chairman Stone said, could not be predicted at this time.

"I think those who oppose the treaty," he said, "will oppose it on the ground that the price to be paid is excessive, and they probably will urge also that nothing should be done with the treaty until Denmark has finally passed upon it."

Senator Stone said that the action of the Danish landsthing in rejecting the proposal to sell the islands would make no difference in the attitude of the United States, nor cause any delay in the effort to have the treaty ratified here as soon as possible.

Some senators thought that the position taken by the Danish landsthing would serve to hasten action on the treaty in this country, but many of them doubt that it can be ratified at this session.
